Social Equality.

Crime, like death, levels all destructions. Yesterday, a genteel looking white man apparently about fifty years of age, was brought here for admission to the Penitentiary coupled hand and foot to a negro boy. The moral distinction between them was destroyed. It would have been idle to have rebelled against the social union. We do not know where the parties are from.

Adjutant-General Gorman's Card.

Our article in yesterday's NEWS on the "Removal of Arms" has called fourth an explanation from Gen. Gorman to which we cheerfully give place. Our strictures were aimed, not at the removal of the arms, nor at the arming of a negro volunteer company. The first may be made by law perfectly legitimate by compliance with prescribed conditions. Gen. Gorman claims that he did comply with the law. And we have no cause of complaint that colored volunteers are armed. It is their right which they share equally with white companies. Nor did we apprehend under ordinary circumstances, misuse of this privilege. The colored fire company here are always prompt and skillful and as much interested in the saving of property as any white organization. Whatever tends to identify them in feeling and interest with the whites, is so much gained in breaking down that wall of partition between the races which politicians have built up. Recognizing their rights as citizens, they well perform the duties of citizens. They will stand on their manhood, and cease to be supple puppets to political wire-workers. No, they are welcome to the arms.

Our strictures were confined to the very inopportunity of the alleged distribution of arms, when an existing question hung upon the wisdom of the court; when adverse judgment might have precipitated a mad movement to gain by force what had been denied by law. This was the danger. This was the cause of excited indignation.

The cloud has swept by. The explanations are before the public. But the spirit aroused manifests very clearly that the white citizens of this city will not permit their rights to be wrested from them without protest or struggle:

Mr. Editor:—Believing that you would not do any one an intentional injustice, and feeling that such has been done me in an editorial of the NEWS of the 26th, I ask to make the following corrections in regard thereto.

The arms issued to the Raleigh colored Infantry were issued five weeks ago—before the present municipal imbroglio was begun in the courts. They gave a justified bond for the arms over twelve months ago—justified sureties before the Superior Court clerk. The bond has remained on file, in the office of the Governor. The Governor did agree to their issue at the time it was done. It did "appear to the Governor by the certificate of the Brigade-General of the brigade in which the company is formed" that they had his (the Brigade-General's) recommendation. The company to whom these arms were issued have had an existence and organization for over twelve months. Their officers have commissions bearing date co-equal with their first organization. The Captain of the company is Captain of Victor Fire Company, and a majority of its membership are the same who belong to a fire company that have proved their devotion to the interests of Raleigh whenever the property of its people has been in peril. They are composed of the best element of the colored people.

While opposed to the issue of arms to military organizations for reasons stated in my card, it has been permitted by the Executives of the State. Raleigh to-day has two volunteer companies of white men, notwithstanding its opposition, completely equipped—the infantry with breech-loaders, and the artillery with Napoleon guns and everything else attached. I have issued to these companies not only rifles, but tents, knapsacks, canteens and haversacks. It has been my pride and glory to equip them with every want of a citizen soldier, and I could not, and do not now see any harm or evil in issuing sixty stands of arms and a sparse and ancient set of accoutrements to a praiseworthy and reliable and well-recommended body of colored citizens.

I love Raleigh and its people dearer than life itself. I would do naught to cast a blemish upon its good name for law and order. I glory in its prosperity and growth, and I am willing, if necessary, to sacrifice my existence to defend it from lawlessness and bad repute as a community.

Politically you and I may differ, and that difference may generate abuse and party strife, but God willing, our differences shall never jeopardize the lives of its people, or imperil its prosperity.

Adolphus G. Moore.

Under the obituary head will be found an appropriate tribute to the memory of this gentleman so well known and so highly esteemed. Time always brings its consolations to the afflicted, but there are cases where comfort comes slowly, because it is so difficult to realize facts. Adolphus Moore was so full of vitality, so abundant in energy, so generous in impulse, that he seemed one of those mortals who might defy death itself. He seemed destined to live until the slow processes of nature had exhausted his energies and then to pass away in the fullness of time. But the fatal shaft struck him in the full vigor of manhood, and the grave has closed upon one who yet seems to live before us, so vivid was the impression of his exuberant spirits and elastic movements.

But we will add no more, the obituary notice doing ample justice to those traits which attracted to him such strong yet tender affection.

A Pretty Feature.

Several of our stores, notably the bookstore of J. H. Enniss and the handsome establishment of Nat. L. Brown, have added to their attractiveness by the display of beautiful green house plants. It is a graceful wreath thrown around the rugged brow of business. It is a pretty reminder that life has its bright features as well as its harsher ones, and that its pathway may be strown with flowers, if it is also obstructed with thorns. We hope to see the custom expand into general application.

William J. Exum vs. Daniel Cogdell et al., from Wayne.

One who has title to land is not estopped from asserting the same against a purchaser from a third party for a valuable consideration, but with notice of the defect in the title of the vendor, although the vendee may claim it is under the real owner.

State vs. Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Company, from New Hanover.

The provisions of the act of 1837, Bat. Rev. chap. 104, sec. 38, do not apply to railroads, &c., constructed before the time of its passage.

The proviso to the 27th section of the charter of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad Company does not grant that company the power to make and repair bridges, roads necessary by roads laid out subsequent to the construction of said railroad.

State vs. P. H. Hodson et al., from Guilford.

Where one, against whom an offence is alleged to have been committed, had not been endorsed as prosecutor upon the bill of indictment, the court has no authority, after indictment found and a nol. pros. entered, to endorse such person as prosecutor, without his consent, and thus subject him to the cost of the prosecution, notwithstanding the Solicitor had admitted that such prosecution was frivolous and malicious.

(State vs. Lupton, 63 N. C. Rep. 488; State vs. Darr, Ibid, 516, cited and approved.)

State vs. Jerre Rorie and Patsy Rushing, from Richmond.

A prisoner under arrest, on his preliminary examination, was told by the committing magistrate that "he was charged with selling stolen corn and that if he wanted to tell anything, he could do so, but it was just as he chose:" Held, that the statement then made by the prisoner, and reduced to writing by the magistrate, was not admissible in evidence on the trial in the Superior Court; for the reason that the prisoner had not been cautioned as provided for in sec 23, chap. 33, Bat. Rev., and had not been sufficiently put on his guard.

That the statement of the prisoner was in the nature of a denial, and not a confession, made no difference, and it was not for the State to say, that such declaration did not prejudice the prisoner's case.

(State vs. Matthews, 66 N. C. Rep. 106, cited and approved.)

Owen M. Allen and wife vs. William J. Bowen et. al. from Washington.

A limitation by deed of "a tract or parcel of land lying and being in the upper part of the C. L. tract, which we have drawn agreeable to the division that has been made, and if said division shall not stand, the understanding is that we sell all the right, title and claim that we have in the lands of C. R., deceased, unto the said W. B. of the second part, and by these presents hath bargained and sold and conveyed our land or right aforesaid, which we do warrant and forever defend. And we, T. P. and E. P. his wife, doth for themselves, their heirs and assigns forever, clear of all the encumbrances whatsoever," is clearly intended to convey, and does convey an estate in fee simple to the bargainee.

Armfield vs. Walker, 5 Ired. 580; Philips vs. Davis, 69 N. C. Rep. 117; Phillips and wife vs. Thomson and wife, 73 N. C. Rep. 543, cited and approved.

Samuel P. Forsythe vs. Henry A. Bullock, from Granville.

In a summary proceeding, under the provisions of the Landlord and Tenant Act, the tenant may set up in his answer any equitable defence which he may have to his landlord's claim; and if such defence involve the title to real estate, a Justice of the Peace has no jurisdiction thereof, and should dismiss the proceeding.

Therefore, where A instituted summary proceedings under said Act against B, who offered to prove that the deed under which the plaintiff claimed title, although executed by himself, and absolute upon its face, was in fact intended as a mortgage and delivered as such: It was held, that upon appeal from the court of a Justice of the Peace, the court below erred in excluding evidence tending to show that said deed was intended and delivered to operate as a mortgage, and that the proceeding should have been dismissed for want of jurisdiction in the Justice of the Peace.

Death Of Calvin J. Rogers.

Our letter from Durham gives us the only particulars of the death of this gentleman, information of which reached this city yesterday morning. Dr. Dunn, the coroner of the county went immediately to the scene of the calamity, but had not returned at a late hour last evening. We will probably obtain full particulars to-day.

Mr. Rogers has been quite a prominent man in Wake. Before the war he was elected, as a Whig to the sheriffalty of the county. Subsequent to the war, he was made agent of the N. C. R. R. for this station, and afterwards he filled the office of Post-master for this city. We suppose Mr. Rogers to have been sixty-three or five years of age.

For Secretary of State.

Elsewhere we publish a communication from Harnett county, recommending Mr. John A. Womack, of Chatham as a suitable Democratic candidate for the office of Secretary of State. This is another endorsement of Mr. Womack's worth and qualifications. This gentleman served in the Legislature of 1870-'1 with marked distinction and usefulness as a business man. He is emphatically the business man of Chatham county, where his skill, his judgment, and his integrity attract to him the unbounded confidence of the people.

Messrs. Rand & Barbee now have their saw mill in full operation, and are prepared to furnish lumber of any size to the trade at reduced prices. Give them a call at Messrs. Rand & Wyatt's store.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

For Secretary of State.

HARNETT COUNTY, April 25, 1876.

To the Editor News:

We respectfully recommend through your paper John A. Womack, Esq., of Chatham county, to the Convention of the Democratic Conservative party as a gentleman in every way suited to fill the office of Secretary of State.

Death of Calvin J. Rogers—Tobacco and Wrappers Wanted.

DURHAM, N. C., April 26, '76.

Dear News:—I write you again in haste to tell you that Calvin J. Rogers was found dead yesterday. It seems that he went fishing in the morning, and not returning in proper time, he was looked after, and when found, was lying flat on his face in the water, dead. The supposition is that he had a fit and fell in the creek.

Tobacco sold well to-day. Farmers seemed to be satisfied with prices. You may say to your many readers, a few more wrappers wanted for family use.

R.

Thomas M. Holt for Governor.

ALAMANCE CO., April 26, '76.

Mr. Editor:—Now is surely the time to canvass the names of men who are fittest for nomination at our coming convention in June. Every section urges the claims of its favorites but neither section nor favorite should determine nomination, nor can they secure success. When a man's claims as to honesty and capacity have been conceded, the next and great question to be considered is, will he summon the entire Democratic strength. Strict integrity, unquestionable ability and undoubted availability—these are all the qualities our candidates for Governor must possess. Middle Carolina points to one of her sons in whom are centered all of these qualifications and the convention will be asked to test him accordingly and upon his own merits. Touching the integrity of Col. T. M. Holt of Alamance, it is unnecessary to speak. His own countrymen bear undivided testimony to his uprightness and unblemished christian character.

His unparalled success in what enterprises soever he has engaged in, speaks most potently in behalf of his ability.

Can he be elected? That's the question. Col. Holt possesses powers as a successful canvasser that few of his friends at a distance fully understand. This is simply because he has never allowed himself to be drawn into political life beyond the sphere of his immediate engagements. He has never appeared in his own county for office without success, and that, too, when success was doubtful. His moderation and foresightedness have always enabled him, while strictly adhering to the principles of the Democratic party, neither to solidify the opposition nor disintegrate his own party. His speaking qualifications, his wide practical experience, his thorough identity with the farming and manufacturing interests of the country, his unimpeachable record before, during and since the war, his unwavering fidelity to the party, his go-aheadativeness in all all things, and his entire ability pecuniarily, physically and mentally to be a worthy exponent of the party and make an effective canvass of the State commend him to the consideration of his fellow citizens who have success more than personal preference at heart in the coming campaign. Alamance offers for Governor the name of Col. T. M. Holt.

F. B.

Messrs. Law & Co. assure us that after the 28th inst. they will not continue to sell goods below cost. Those having purchases in view will take notice.

The Fete Musicale.

Circumstances deprived us of the pleasure of more than a peep into Metropolitan Hall last night, and therefore we cannot be a faithful chronicler of all the pretty and pleasant things that met the eye and greeted the ear. The first impression was the astounding contrast between the fine hall, so usually the theatre of angry contention and the boisterous clamor of the ruder sex, and the charming picture wrought by feminine taste, brightened yet softened by feminine beauty and loveliness. What was done we cannot say, only, that the hall seemed to have been converted into a camp of nations where the fair representatives of the civilized world had pitched their tents, and under the snowy canopy, displayed in brilliant and striking costume the characters of their national life. The spectator saw reproduced before him the pictures familiar to his mind—the picturesque maiden of Normandy, quaint, but aglow with coloring of striking contrast, the dark-eyed Spaniard, the rich tinted Italian, the bronzed Brazilian, the earnest and warm-hearted Irish maiden, the dear, home-like North Carolina lassie—not pictures merely, but living realities.

The room presented a beautiful appearance with its lights, its garlands, its canopies, its flowers, its richly spread tables—all tempting to a longer stay, but we tore ourself away from the ripple of pleasant voices and the melody of charming music, to plunge again into the still beginning never ending labors of the editorial life.

Hughes Durham smoking tobacco is among the good brands of Durham, one of the best Ziegler can supply you with it; as also with pipes from his inexhaustible stock to try it. His stock of cigars is superior; no two words about that.

A Negro Woman Shot and Killed.

We learn that a colored woman named Fanny Thompson, living near the town of Lillington, Harnett county, in the employ of Mr. McL. Barnes was shot at and killed by some unknown person. The load entered her left breast, apparently producing instant death. There is no clue to this foul assassination. The gun must have been thrust thro' a door or window. A jury of inquest rendered its verdict that the deceased came to her death by a gunshot wound inflicted by a person or persons unknown.

It speaks for itself; is what a lady said of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup the other day, for a single bottle cured my child of a most dreadful cough.

An old stager dead. We learn with regret from the Blue Ridge Blade that John Pence, well remembered by every body who has crossed the mountains within the last twenty years for his skill as a driver, died at Old Fort on Sunday last.

The Tunnel finished. The Blade says the Burgin Tunnel, the 5th in order approaching the top of the mountain is finished by convict labor. There remains now only the big tunnel at the top of the Ridge to make a hole through the mountains.

Sudden Death of a Student. The Burke Blade says Mr. Belk, a student at Rutherford College died suddenly some time since. He had been fishing, and returning, fell suddenly to the ground. He was taken up, but expired before reaching the house.

A prominent physician dead. The Milton Mercury chronicles the sudden death on Sunday of Dr. Thomas P. Hoge, of Pittsylvania county, Va., but who had a large practice in Caswell. He had visited a patient in Milton on Saturday, and returned home and died after a few hours' illness.

The Wilmington Star says the road out to Oakdale cemetery is nearly completed. It is laid with shell marl and will be as firm as a turnpike. The beautiful cemetery merited an approach that would leave the holy influences of the spot unmixed with the unpleasant memory of reaching it through the desert sand.

A painful accident. The Wilmington Journal says that on Tuesday whilst Mr. D. C. Green, clerk to Ahrens & Haar, ice dealers, was at his desk, a barrel which was being hoisted through a trap-door slipped from the slings and fell upon his head, and knocked him senseless. The chime of the barrel struck him on the back of the head. He was taken home in an insensible condition, but Dr. Bellamy, his physician, does not think the injury necessarily fatal.

State Medical Society. The Wilmington Review informs us that the annual meeting will be held in Fayetteville at 10 o'clock a. m. on next Wednesday, 3d of May. The steamer Gov. Worth will leave here on the day before at 2 o'clock p. m. for Fayetteville, and will carry and return passengers to this Annual Medical Meeting for one fare, $4, as we are authorized to state. The Doctors will no doubt have a fine time in Fayetteville, and we hope that they will have a large meeting.

DIED.

DUNCAN.—Near Clayton, Johnston Co., on the 17th of April, Dr. H. DUNCAN, aged 76 years.

Dr. Duncan had practiced medicine for many years. Though not a graduate of any school, yet he possessed the confidence of a great many, and was not only patronized by many of those who lived near him, but by quite a number who lived at a distance from him. Dr. Duncan was well know and doubtless will be missed by many.

His son, Dr. B. F. Duncan, will continue his father's practice, having located at the same place where his father lived.

OBITUARY.

On Thursday evening, January 27th, 1876, Mr. A. G. MOORE, of Alamance county, died at his residence at Haw River, N. C., from the effects of a gun-shot wound received at the hands of George W. Swenson on the preceding Tuesday.

Thus has passed suddenly from the stage of life from the active enjoyment of a full and vigorous and useful manhood to an untimely grave the embodiment of all that was noble, generous and chivalrous, in the person of A. G. MOORE. The name of "DOLPH MOORE" was a synonym for all that was noble in man. His heart was open to every generous impulse, and he embodied in his manly and fearless nature all those traits of character which tend to make man, in the truest and broadest sense "the noblest work of God." Few young men were more widely known, and wherever known none had more warm-hearted, sterling friends or was more loved and honored than he.

Early in life he left his home in North Carolina and went to Washington, Ark., where he was living at the commencement of the late war. He was among the first to enlist, entering the army as a member of a cavalry company going out from the home of Hindman, of which company he was subsequently promoted to the captaincy. From that day till the surrender of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston at Greensboro, N. C., in 1865, he was ever to be found in the front ranks of that army in times of battle or danger, animating and cheering his men by his own fearless conduct to bear with fortitude all the dangers and hardships to which they were exposed. He was an active participant in all the noted battles of the West, where his untiring energy, dauntless courage, and unselfish patriotism gained for him not only the confidence of his troops and the respect of his brother officers, but on more than one occasion called forth complimental from his commanding officers for bravery and efficient services rendered on the field of battle. At the close of the war he was one of twelve men of his original company of one hundred and twenty who had escaped the many dangers through which they had passed.

Being near his old home at the time of his surrender, he did not return West, but after a short time, engaged in the manufacturing business with his brother-in law, Col. F. M. Holt, of Haw River. Of his history since then it is almost useless to speak as it is known by his many friends. His generous nature and fearless spirit ever bringing him to the front as a free and outspoken advocate of all that was just and right, and an unyielding adversary of all that was wrong. But it was in his private life that he shone to best advantage. His large-hearted, whole-souled generosity, kindly nature and genial spirits making him friends among all classes, who loved him the more the better they knew him. He was particularly the friend of the poor and needy, and none who needed assistance ever appealed to him in vain. The innate goodness and tenderness of his heart is beautifully shown in the kindness and tender care he extended to his operatives in their times of sickness or distress. He attended on them personally, and was ever ready and willing to relieve their sufferings at any sacrifice to himself. How much they loved him living was shown by their great grief at his death; how much they reverence his memory dead is apparent in the manner in which they speak of their "best friend Capt. Moore."

He lived an upright, honorable and a thoroughly consistent life, and was truly a gentleman "without fear and without reproach." So far as the honor of his soul, the uprightness of his life and the true charity of his noble nature are concerned, he was a perfect man, and there is not one spot or blemish to mar his fair escutcheon, not one taint which would bring a tinge to his cheek, living, or a shadow to his memory dead.

Before dea h he prayed most fervently for the author of his misfortune, and we have every hope that he realized the full pardoning power of a crucified Savior and that in going down into the "valley of the shadow of death" he was lighted on his way to the "Beautiful Beyond" by the shining face of the Lamb of God.

We cannot too deeply sympathize with his devoted and sorely-stricken family, for it seems that in yielding him up all the light has gone out of their lives.

We all loved him living, but our love could not stay the grim hand o death, and now that he is gone, in the memory of his many friends there will ever be a spot around which will cluster a never fading recollection of and admiration for the noble traits of that soul which on the 27th of January, 1876, went to meet its God from the body of ADOLPHUS G. MOORE. "B."

GOING FOR A CHARACTER.

The big suit instituted by the Hon(?) Secretary of State against the NEWS is very much in the shape of a huge reward for something lost. Fifty thousand dollars will be paid for the recovery of the character of W. H. Howerton! Very tempting to be sure, but it won't fetch it. "Gone, gone, clean gone." In a trial at Salisbury, his own home, his character was proven bad. We had this from three witnesses who were present at the trial. The case was carried up to the Supreme Court and appears in the Reports as Latimer vs. Howerton (68 N. C., 370). The case as printed does not cover the whole record, but even that shows that Latimer swore one way and Howerton the other. The jury credited the former and disbelieved the latter. Latimer was a resident of Hillsboro. Howerton was discredited at his own home, Salisbury.

THE HAPPY FAMILY—HARMONY AT THE RADICAL CENTRE.

We have intimated frequently that there was not that degree of accord among our friends, the enemy, they would have us infer; nor as much as, for good reasons, we would have our own party friends believe. We have endeavored to impress their example of good discipline both upon the leaders and followers as the great secret of party success. Nevertheless we have not been blind to facts, nor have we failed to see, that while the Radical party appeared to present the smiling face of unity to the audience there was a deal of bitterness and wrangling behind the curtain.

There are certain and unmistakeable signs of a want of harmony among them. Their centre is not in accord with the circumference. Greensboro is the Republican centre. Raleigh is not. Hence, to quote Dr. Howerton, hinc illæ lachrymæ. But Greensboro claims by assumption. She asserts, and she maintains the coveted position of Dictator against the opposition and discontent of the rest of the State. She grows more assuming, more offensive and more supercilious, and the mutinous mutterings of rival centres, or ambitious segments of the circumference threaten open rebellion in the Radical ranks. From Greensboro, our brilliant brother Ball, the chief Radical fugleman, proclaims through his North State the true gospel of the faithful, from which all the little Radical trumpeters take their cue. Here U. S. Marshal Douglass sways the rod of empire as westward the march of troops and deputies wend their way to harass, persecute, handcuff, and ruin the poor people of the mountain counties. Here "Father-in-law" Judge Dick, balances the scales of justice, approvingly blind to all the acts of his hopeful relation. Here the converted Wisconsin Democrat, the blonde Keogh, chairman of the committee, concocts the plans of campaigns. Here Judge Settle, Grant's "best man" in North Carolina, dispenses Federal patronage, none of which comes to this State, save through this recognized channel. This patronage and power thus concentrated and entrenched decrees the nomination of Settle for Governor. This accords happily in the "Greensboro" centre, but twangs in inharmonious discord all around the circumference. The little kingdom, ruled by the Crown Prince "Cousin Robert," the Marshal, known as the Western District of North Carolina, says none of your cousin Tommy Settle for us. The Pee Dee region says, "not this but the other brother-in-law."

The Albemarle and Pamlico section, soothed to harmony by the dulcet notes of Pool in days when he could persuade them against their will, and in which the active and devil-may-care energy of Sam Carrow reversed majorities and made voters where none had been known to grow before, are represented as a unit for Settle. The former friends, adherents and followers and present sympathizers of Pool and Carrow—and they are said to be abundant from the seashore to the mountains—complain bitterly that Settle and his favorites have been given everything, while the really meritorious are incontinently cut adrift. They say that Settle, with a choice of missions, chose Peru for reasons best known to himself; that his outfit allowance was princely and his salary $10,000 in gold; that he was allowed to draw his salary and in a few months resign and return home because Grant wanted him to be Governor in 1872. But the people did not ratify the arrangement and Caldwell was called, whereat Settle waxed wroth with Pool for not controlling Sam Carrow, Young and Long Perry—peace to his ashes—and complained that he had hired expensive headquarters at the National, caused the "crooked" to flow in unstinted stream, and—had lost all when he could ill afford it. All of which coming to the ears of Sam Carrow, he immediately, with reckless generosity, footed the bill.

Later in the year, a vacancy in the Supreme Court occurred. Carrow's friends say that he went to Governor Caldwell, whose nomination and election he had secured, and procured the vacant Judgeship for Settle.

In time, Grant's second or unloading administration began. It is said the first victim of the new deal was Carrow, and that Settle stood by and saw Carrow's head tumble into the basket with most philosophic complacency.

Pool had died at the hands of a Democratic Legislature. Carrow had perished at the guillotine. Douglass came to North Carolina with a marshal's commission in one hand and Sam Carrow's head in the other. "So much for Buckinghan."

The Centre had selected Long Perry for another victim, but it is said one Blaine from Maine saved him. Ike Young was then ordered out by the Centre for execution. Tim Lee was at one time said to have Ike's head and would present it to his father-in-law Ceburn Harris, but Columbus Delano and a Baltimore man named Bond—we all know him—saved Ike and frustrated the arrangement of the Centre.

But time marched on, and the ceaseless work of the guillotine, moving at the command of the Centre, went on until the startling fact was one day realized that no friend of Caldwell or follower of Pool held a Federal office in this State. Perry had been supplanted and gone back to his native pines, Young, after hard struggles, had submitted to the Centre, a receivership in the Western North Carolina Railroad having reconciled his patron and protector, W. A. Smith. The latter, aspiring to the position of Lieutenant Governor on the ticket with Settle, boasts the most remarkable of political exploits by reconcilement of adverse elements. He claims to be stronger than ever. He has formed alliances with a combination consisting of a brother-in-law, and father and a son and a son-in-law. In other words, he has captured or been captured by the Logan ring of the Republican party, consisting of the distinguished luminary Logan, the man once likened by Judge Bynum to an owl which was the more blind as he got more light; that veteran office-holder, chronic office seeker, figuring on the pages of the Fraud Commission, the first, last, best and only Superintendent of Public Works in North Carolina; our talented and enterprising Solicitor of this Judicial District; and last, but not least, the indefatigable and well-known late Sheriff of Wake and late Independent Candidate for the Constitutional Convention. This formidable combination, controlling with great certainty three votes—that of the last name being doubtful—Smith is emboldened to believe he has secured the nomination of Settle for Governor, that of Lieutenant Governor for himself, and Ike Young the nomination for Congress.

The power of this combination in the Rutherford country is represented by such Republicans as Barringer, Bynum and Myers of Charlotte as very potent, having been so far effective as to have reduced the old Republican majority in Rutherford of eleven hundred to a little more than a baker's dozen. Its power was felt last summer when its independent candidate for the Convention received five votes!

Mr. Smith's strength is said to be graduating itself to the proportionate power of his new combination. He has offended "the man and brother" element by refusing positively to go to the Cincinnati Convention as alternate to the colored delegate at large, Jas. H. Harris. He has not mended the matter in Wake or elsewhere, by having himself put on the pure white delegation from this Congressional District. He has quarrelled with Gov. Brogden about the commission to build the W. N. C. R. R., and the Republicans of the West were so displeased with his management as receiver, that in the appointment of commissioner, the Governor was compelled to pass him by.

The friends of the second and somewhat lesser luminary, Col. Young, who was confident a few weeks ago of walking over the District, are now much troubled over some information or suspicions, that Joe Davis, now in Congress, has in hands certain official documents obtained in Washington touching some former Franklin county distilleries, which may prove, when developed, very damaging to the Col. in the campaign.

Chapin, of Chatham, is known to be hostile to Col. Young, on account of some former alleged nepotism. Smith, we learn, has been trying to mollify Chapin, because without Chatham all is lost.

At these and other evidences of discord and danger, the centre is reported to be greatly disturbed notwithstanding their outward show of confidence. And we will show at some other time, that there is more of it.

OUR climate has undergone a very marked change for the worse within the last quarter of a century, inasmuch as the springs are more capricious, the sudden return of winter more frequent and the unreliability of fruit and early vegetables more common. All this is disheartening, both as regards pleasure and profit. But we are spared one calamity of such common occurence in the Northwest, that great haven of rest to the emigrant, that we wonder they have not quit long ago in disgust, as each successive year they are ruined by the monumental snow storms of winter and the unchained tornadoes of summer. Only yesterday we read of a hail storm in Kansas, which did not leave even a bud on the trees, which obliterated the growing grain, and left a track as blasted with desolation as the desert of Sahara. This is one of the many already chronicled this Spring, to be followed in May and June by the usual series of frightful tornadoes. These are caused by the warm currents of air from the Gulf streaming without obstruction up the valley of the Mississippi, encountering the cold currents from the arctic regions or from the Rocky mountains, there to come into that fearful conflict for the mastery, before which the works of man disappear like chaff.

Let the emigrant come to North Carolina, where such things are almost unknown.

GRANT'S ELECTION FUND.

A Third of an Appropriation Stolen Outright, and a Third Paid to Politicians.

A man who was intimately connected with the secret service under Whitley said to a Sun roporter on Saturday:

"Why does the Committee on Expenditures in the Department of Justice not ask Whitley what became of the rest of the $175,000 or $180,000 which went into his hands? Whitley has accounted only for about $30,000 paid to Davenport. The facts are that this fund was known to the secret service men as the "Ku-Klux fund." The appropriation was made after the passage of the Enforcement act, and it was evident that the fund should have been used in carrying out its provisions. About one-third of the $180,000 was used legitimately in New York and in the Southern States in "detecting and bringing to punishment persons guilty of offences against the United States," another third was used to pay the expenses of Grant clubs, and of Grant campaign speakers—including the notorious Gen. Monk—and another third was stolen outright. All this Whitley knows as well as I do, and Proctor Knott should not hand him his letter of immunity until he makes a clean breast, and tells the whole story."

"How did you pay the political speakers?" the reporter asked.

"We paid them from $5 to $8 a day. One man who went on platforms with such men as Blaine, Merton and Conkling was paid a salary and his expenses from this fund. Then we supported a number of Grant clubs in this city. We ran the machine entirely independent of the local political leaders."

"Where did the stolen money go?"

"That is for Whitley to tell. He knows where it went to. Wm. A. Donnelly, whose receipts were furnished to the committee by Whitley, was not paid out of this Ku-Klux fund, but from the regular secret service appropriation."

The "Ku-Klux fund" first appeared in the "act making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the year ending June 30, 1872" in which is the following item:

"For this sum, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be expended under the direction of the Attorney-General, in the detection and prosecution of crimes against the United States, $50,000."

This fund had no connection with the regular secret service fund, for the same act also contains the following:

For expenses in detecting and bringing to trial and punishment persons engaged in counterfeiting Treasury notes, national bank notes, and other securities of the United States, and for frauds upon the Government, $125,000."—New York Sun.

A letter was received at Keobuk the other day without a stamp. The face of the envelope was covered all over with directions, so there was no room for a stamp, but on one corner of the envelope the sender had written: "There is a stamp inside to pay postage," and on being opened the stamp was found.

Great Frauds in the Public Debt Statement—A Sergeant's Story.

A long story comes from St. Louis, originating with Sergeant George Pender, in charge of the signal-service station there, who was formally public-debt-statement clerk in the Treasury Department under Secretary McCulloch. He alleges that while he was engaged thus in the Treasury he discovered great frauds; that the public debt statement reported money in the Treasury that was not on hand, while the Government was paying three per cent. for money to meet temporary necessities. He says he also discovered that hundreds of thousands of dollars of Government money was placed in the hands of parties outside, who loaned it back to the Government as individual funds and drew interest on it. Pender will probably ventilate his sensation before the Committee on Expenditures in the Treasury Department at Washington, whither he has gone.—Baltimore Sun.

The Eastern Shore Horror.

The Berlin and Chrisfield newspapers of Saturday give some additional but brief particulars of the terrible disaster near Chesconessex, Accomac county, Va., on the preceding Sunday night. It occurred at the house of a Mr. Stant, who, with his wife, was absent at church. They left at home Mrs. Stant's father, an old man of eighty years, and five children, ranging from four to sixteen years of age. When the husband and wife returned it was to find their home in ashes and that every one of the six inmates left behind had perished in the flames. Their bodies were recovered and recognized, but the source of the fire remains a mystery.—Richmond Dispatch.

The baneful effects of Democratic ascendancy are already apparent in that unhappy State, Mississippi. Not only have the coroners (who last year when Mr. Ames desired to shed the blood of ten or fifteen negroes for the benefit of the party, used to drive a roaring trade) suffered from depression of business since the Ku-Klux seized the reins of government but the tax levy has been cut down from $0.25 on the thousand dollars to $6.50. In the face of these damning disclosures, why tarry the wheels of that Mississippi investigating Committee? Let the great Jabberwok, Boutwell with eyes aflame, press through the bulgy wood of affidavits and bubble as he comes.—New York World.

Removing Life's Heaviest Burden.

To remove the burden of disease, the heaviest that poor humanity is compelled to bear, is certainly a grand object, a glorious mission. Assuredly the discoverer of a remedy which accomplishes this result is entitled to the gratitude and respect of mankind. Such a remedy is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, whose great success is attributable to the fact that its restorative action upon the debilitated and disordered system is in accordance with the principles of common sense. In invigorates the sick, and, as their strength increases, the burden of disease grows lighter. It reforms those physical irregularities which render weakness chronic, and thus eradicates the evil at its very source. Liver complaint, malarious fevers, constipation, urinary troubles, ulterine weakness, and many other causes of general debility and ill health, are completely removed by the combined tonic and alterative operation of the Bitters.

Safety Lamp,

Has been placed upon the Market, and the Public is invited to test the simple but wonderful Lamp. Its qualities are it extinguishes itself when overturned, it extinguishes itself when dropped from the hand, it extinguishes itself if broken; it cannot be filled while lighted, but can be carried about at pleasure. Blowing down the chimney or turning down the wick to extinguish the light is entirely unnecessary; the lamp gives more light with the same wick than any lamp in the world.

THE DAILY NEWS.

THURSDAY.....APRIL 27, 1876.

New York and California Millionaires.

As the by one the owners of great fortunes disappear, the accumulations of over half a century are subdivided among their heirs or legatees. The possesser of five or ten millions cannot fill the places left vacant by Astor and Stewart. Vanderbilt is now the sole survivor of the three men whose fortunes ranked with the great fortunes of the world. All this great wealth, amassed during the present century, was the result of hard work, sagacity and economy, steadfastly continued during a long series of years. John Jacob Astor, the founder of the family in New York, was not one of the very rich men of this city in 1800. He began with the century and grew with the country during those years of unparalleled material prosperity which marked the wonderful progress of the United States in manufactures, commerce, agriculture and railroads for the first fifty years of the present century. We look the world over in vain for such another example of increased wealth, population and political power in so short a space of time. Nor can any of the great centres of civilization, London, Paris, Berlin or Vienna, furnish us with the names of three men who have equalled achieved such enormous fortunes in the short space of a life. The name of Meyer Anselm Rothschild may be quoted in objection. But he stands alone, and moreover was hard upon sixty years old at the beginning of the present century, and belongs to a generation long since passed away. During the past fifty years this country has presented to all comers a field for the accumulation of wealth such as has never been known to man or offered to endeavor.

We cannot hope again to realize such exemptional conditions for all manner of commercial and industrial enterprises here in the Eastern or Middle States during the remaining years of the century. But over the mountains, on the shores of the Pacific, those new countries abounding in precious metals, where untold wealth lies dormant in the bowels of the earth, only requiring the ingenuity and labor of man to bring it forth, promise a field for the rapid accumulation of wealth which bids fair to furnish us with California millionaires, some of whom are already among the very rich men of the world. Senator William Sharon of Nevada, a man yet in the prime of life, is reputed to be worth $40,000,000. His colleague, Mr. Jones, of Nevada, is estimated at $30,000,000. Both of these gentlemen are, as is universally known, deeply interested in the Nevada silver mines, and right royally would they manage the financial affairs of this financially afflicted nation if they had their way and say. Senator Sharon on his arrival at Washington this winter was understood to be in favor of selling 5 per cent. bonds in Europe and at once redeeming $40 000,000 in silver. This would have not been a bad way, for him, of getting rid of the surplus California silver. Among the most active and stirring of California's millionaires may be mentioned the members of the great San Francisco house of Flood & O'Brien, known the world over as owners of the Big Bonanza. The firm consists of four partners—Flood, O'Brien, John W. Mackay and James G. Fair. The two latter are practical miners, and in point of fact the working partners and real heads of the house. They direct all the work at the mines. John W. Mackay and James G. Fair have made silver-mining what it is in Nevada. The members of the firm all came to California without money or friends. It is estimated that each partner of this firm is to-day in the employment of an income of over $1,000,000 a year. The Big Bonanza alone is computed to contain a mass of gold and silver valued at $300,000,000, and yields at present over $2,500,000 a month. The fabulous sums which are here regularly extended from the earth every four weeks remind one of the fairy tales of old. The Consolidated Virginia Mine produces $3,000,000 a month, while it is estimated by those experts now on the ground that the total product of the "Comstock" for the present year will exceed $75,000,000. No wonder the California millionaires and Big Bonanza people look upon the circulation of silver "to almost any extent" as a great national measure of finance. But California is not only rich in gold and silver. She is rapidly developing her agricultural, industrial and manufacturing interests. An immense and lucrative commerce with Asia is springing up. To this trade with the East no limits can be set. The Chinese question may prove the key which will open the door of the Chinese Empire to the restless and enterprising traders of the Pacific coast. And with a population of 30,000,000 of people to trade with, whose civilized wants are daily increasing, we may confidently look for the great fortunes of the future among the merchants and traders of California.—New York World.

Specialties in Medicines.

We publish on our eighth page a lengthy article describing the system of a noted specialist. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. in which he sets forth with considerable force and clearness his reasons for devoting his whole attention to a single department of medicine—the treatment of lingering chronic diseases. The same article also takes up the subjects of diagnosis, methods of consultation and treatment, etc., and will be found to contain many valuable hints to the invalid. Dr. Pierce is the author of a work which has already attained a large circulation—"The Peoples Common Sense Medical Adviser"—containing some nine hundred numerously-illustrated pages, and devoted to medicine in all its branches, a work well calculated for the guidance and instruction of the people at large, and which may be had for $1.50 post-paid, by addressing the author. Dr. Pierce has now been before the general public long enough to enable the information of a careful estimate of the efficiency of his treatment and his medicines, and the verdict, we are glad to know, has been universally favorable to both.—Toledo Blade.

An Emigrant Family Murdered.

LEAVENWORTH, April 23.—Advices have been received here that some time Thursday night a family of emigrants named Baker, from elsewhere in Pennsylvania were massacred by Indians about 160 miles northwest of Custer City. The family consisted of Baker, his wife and two children; all of whom were brained with hatchets and tomahawks and then scalped. The wagon belonging to Baker was rifled and everything valuable carried off. The bodies of the victims were decently buried when found.

NOON DISPATCHES.

Movements of the Mexican Revolutionists.

NEW YORK, April 26.—A despatch dated Brownsville the 25th says the revolutionists moved out from Matamoras this morning 1,600 strong under the command of Diaz en route for Monterey. Gen. Gonzales remains in command at Matamoras. Many desertions from the national guard are taking place, the deserters escaping to this side of the river. The steam launches belonging to Rio Bravo patrolled the river last night, and a squad of cavalry remained in the saddle for the purpose of enforcing the neutrality laws. It having been reported contraband of war would be crossed the river for Diaz they are doing their best to prevent it. The movement of Diaz is regarded as little more than the usual outbreak that takes place in Mexico during the Presidential election, and it is not anticipated that any fighting will take place here.

A band of counterfeiters were arrested at Ringgold barracks yesterday. Affairs in Camargo on the opposite side of the river from that place are reported quiet.

Washington Items.

The Secretary of War told witness Cowles that the contract had been stopped by reason of charges made by Don Piatt. Don Piatt took the stand and said all he knew of the good or bad character of Gen. Ingalls, came through his client, Mr. Cowles. H. G. Fant, the financial agent for Cowles and Bregs from March 1872 to January 1874, testified that there had passed through his hands on account of the firm over $400,000, of which Don Piatt had received nearly $23,000

TO BUSINESS MEN.

A good advertisement in a widely circulated newspaper is the best of all possible

salesmen. It is a salesman who never sleeps and is never weary; who goes after business early and late; who accosts the merchant in his store, the scholar in his study, the lawyer in his office, the lady in her home, the traveler in the car or boat;

a salesman who no purchaser can avoid, who can be in a thousand places at once and speak to thousands of people daily, saying to each one the best thing in the best manner. A good advertisement insures a business connection on the most permanent and independent basis, and is in a certain sense, a guarantee to the customer of fair and moderate prices. Experience has shown that the dealer, whose wares have obtained a public celebrity, is not only enabled to sell, but is forced to sell at reasonable rates, and to furnish a good article. A dealer can make no better investment

T

A

the opinion of a man who is known to be the largest advertiser in the United States.
